thehungryjpeg.com

You will want to add this website to your list and check it weekly. They add a new freebie every Wednesday. The freebie is only good for one week. Sometime the freebies are fonts and sometime beautiful graphics. After a week they sometimes show up in the $1 deals so if you missed it and it is just what you need for your project, break down and pay $1. It is usually worth way more than that.

They also offer a free bundle that has fonts and/or graphics in it. You can get it for free if you refer a friend to the hungryjpeg.com website. You can get bundles more than once, so if you have lots of friends that don't mind getting email, send it to them and get a free bundle.

They also have a blog with free items, but it looks a little too risky for me because it switched me to a Vodka website. Always glance up at the address bar when you are on a free site and make sure you are on the correct website.

When I shop, I usually put the free items in my cart and then go to checkout. They encourage you to download every free item – no restrictions on the number.

This is one of the easier free sites to download from because the download button is clearly marked and is big enough to see.

Follow Janes instructions. Always download .otf fonts instead of .ttf if you have a choice. I like to keep my fonts in a separate folder called Downloaded fonts. Then when you get a new computer, you can easily transfer them.. I always install new fonts on my computer as soon as I get them. It is a very quick process to install them – just highlight the new font and click install, or drag and drop then into your system font file
